ABOUT ME

I'm a skilled and passionate self-taught Full-Stack Developer from Nigeria. I have been fascinated with building a web application and solving problems using programming, my interest has led me to learn both font-end and backend technologies such as HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript, ReactJs and NodeJs. I have taken part in many different projects, some of them personal, others, team project, I believe my experience with those projects makes me the best candidate for web development related work.
On my spare time, I love to play games, build projects and do freelance work.
